Last week, the MINI ALL4 Racing had a very special guest aboard: US-American comedian and TV-show host Jay Leno drove the 2014 Dakar Rally winner. Accompanied by Spain's reigning Dakar Champion Nani Roma, he experienced the strengths of the MINI in the Dumont dunes, not far from Las Vegas.

Leno spent the morning in the co-driver seat and enjoyed the experience to be surfed across the dunes with a height of up to several hundred metres by Dakar winner Roma. In the afternoon, Roma and Leno swapped seats and the latter took the wheel. He quickly familiarised with the MINI and soon, he tackled some smaller dunes himself. 15 minutes later, he returned to the camp with a beaming face. The video of his ride in the MINI ALL4 Racing can be watched in the World Wide Web at jaylenogarage.com from today.

"Jay did a really good job driving the MINI," revealed Roma. "It was obvious that he already has driven a lot of cars. Nonetheless, I was somewhat surprised when he headed to first dunes flat out right away. We had a lot of fun together and I think it was a great experience for him."
